

Anthony Gladman

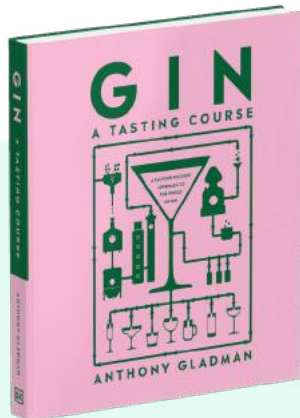

hello@anthonygladman.com

anthonygladman.com

07970607520

@agladman

Anthony Gladman was named the Guild of Food Writers drinks writer of the year in 2022. He believes the key to everyday happiness lies in drinking better, not more, and he helps readers pursue this through a focus on flavour deepened by an understanding of the liquid in your glass. He has a WSET Level 3 Award in spirits, awarded with distinction. Anthony lives in London with his wife and children. If you see him at the bar he'll have a dry martini. Learn more at anthonygladman.com.

Gin A Tasting Course

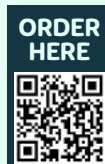

ISBN: 9780241593363

Publisher: DK

Pages: 224

Formats: hardcover, ebook

RRP: £19.99

ORDER
HERE

Gin A Tasting Course is a flavour-first guide to one of the world's favourite spirits. This highly illustrated book puts you on the pathway to developing your palate and writing your own tasting notes with a selection of classic cocktails plus the iconic gin and tonic, with guidance on picking the perfect gin and garnish combo. The book also explores gin's history, distillation and ingredients and features tasting notes for over 100 of the world's most exciting classic, floral, citrus, herbal, fruity, spiced, and savoury gins.

He paints a picture with his words that is wonderfully immersive

Makes us want to never stop reading

He writes stories that are compelling, entertaining, precise, rich with hilarity and fizzing with well-researched information about his subject

Judges' comments for the Guild of Food Writers Drinks Writing Award

His writing balances reporting and storytelling with real verve, and his investigations into Britain's contemporary drinking culture have been beautiful, important pieces of work that have deserved all the acclaim they've received.

Claire Bullen, Editor, Good Beer Hunting

Suggested topics

- How to make the perfect gin and tonic
- You're almost certainly not using enough ice; here's why
- How can gin be more climate friendly?
- New gins to look out for
- Recipe for a killer martini
- Savoury gins: what are they and which ones to seek out
- How to hold your own gin tasting evening

Random but relevant

- Anthony is represented by Elly James at HHB agency: elly@hhbagency.com
- Anthony is also a fully qualified Beer Sommelier
- Anthony writes about beer, cider, spirits and cocktails but not wine
- Anthony has written drinks articles for trade and consumer magazines since 2018
- Anthony has also won prizes for writing about beer, most recently (2022) with a sustainability angle

CLICK OR SCAN

PROFILE PICTURES

NEWSLETTER

